LOSS OF THE BUID "SIR ARCHIDALD CAMP-In the year 1816, after the great arctic ice barrier had been disrupted, and immense islands and bergs had floated away to the latitude of 42° N. (to the south of Loss of the Buto "Sir Archinald Campallating Transitive of the loss of the above vessel from the Calcutta Star;—" We left Sydney on the 21st May last, bound to Singapore, and on the 61st of June entered the Great Barrier Reef, through the passage by Raine's Island, and brought up for the night; H.M.S. Fly in sight to windward. On the 7th, at 11, a.m., weather cloudy, weighed and made sail; and at 4, r.m., the sun having shone out ahead of the vessel, grounded on the tail of Cockburn's Reef; the mate who was looking out having reported us which ice is seldom found in the Atlantic) all Europe was chilled. Etna was covered with snow to a lower point than had been before remembered. Malta became cold; Spain, Portugal, France, and England, and all parts of the continent exposed to south-west and west winds became afthe sun har me shone out ahead of the vessel, grounded on the tail of Cockburn's Reef; the mate who was looking out having reported us to be clear of it, bore away too soon, intending to run for Bird Island and anchor for the night. Every opertion was used to get her off, but all in vain, the surf on the reef having risen considerably higher than when we struck, there being at that time no breakers whatever to be seen; and on hoisting out the longboat she was immediately swamped. At one A M., on the 8th, the captain, second mate, and one boat's crew, left in the whale-boat, to proceed to H.M.S. Fly, now a long distance to windward, for the purpose of getting assistar ce. In the evening, arrived at Sir Charles Hardy's Island; leaving that place on the 9th, the sea running so very high, twice swamped the boat, and were obliged to bear upfor the wreck, which, on reaching at three r.M., we found had been driven much higher on the teef, and had lost her fected; and on the American continent imilar changes took place : the thermometer marking 27° in New Orleans, with ice two inches thick. Nay, so remarkable was the condition of things, that RITTER (Beschreibung des Mont Blanc) says, on Mount St. Bernard it snowed every week (" im Jahre, 1816, verging Reine woche ohne Schull in ganzen jahre.") See also Quarterly Review, vol. xviii., p. 147, and London's Magazine, VII., 620. 1844 having been unusually prevalent, it s very certain that the climate must have been more than usually cold and damp.

We have had some remarkable instances and were obliged to bear uplor the wreck, which, on reaching at three r.m., we found had been driven much higher on the reef, and had lost her rudder, part of false keel, forefoot, &c. At eight r M., she highed and filled with water up to the lower deck beams. Finding that there was now no hopes of saving the vessel, the Captain started away to Bird Island for the purpose of procuring water and a suitable landing-place, but after digging wells, &c., could not procure the former. On the 11th, again returned to the wreck, fitted the long boat with salls, &c., and started on the 12th with a view of reaching the Fly, which we succeeded in doing on the 14th. The Brankle surveying vessel was then made signals to, and despatched to the wreck to bring off those still remaining on board, together with what property could be saved. During the 16th, engaged in conveying articles from the brig to the Brankle, and on the 17th started for the Fly, taking the passengers (Mr. Smither's the owner, his Lady) and part of the crew; the Captain and four hands remained on board the wreck, employed of the great distances at which atmospheric derangements may be felt by transference. On 30th September and 1st October there was a great depression of the barometrical column not only at the South Head, but also far inland; and a far more striking instance of the equinox on the 21st September, when at 9 P.M., at the south Head the barometer fell to 29.240, and at Parramatta 29.20, (at Prospect it fell to 29.10) : nor did the mercury at either place get above 29:40 till after sun-set of the 22nd. As I made hourly observaions at that time for thirty-six hours, I am certain this depression was not effected by local causes. It was inland a season of omparative calm; but on the Upper Hunter there was blowing a destructive hot wind, which was also felt at Bathurst over the vessel; remained on loand until the casign union downwards, and put off to the ships in the whale-boat, but they would not heave too, consequently was obliged to return to the brig. At lour r.n., the Prince George cutter and the Midpe arrived, the latter having been despatched from the Fly to assist in getting out and taking on board what cargo could be saved; the vessels that had passed was then found to be the William Metcalfe and the Elizabeth, the latter having on board the owner of the Sir Archibald Campbell and part of the crew. The captain and remaining part of the hands then went on board the Prince George, leaving all the cargo, stores, &c., on board the wreck. Anived on board the Elizabeth, Captain Morris, at 9-40 a.m. the 24th, at Bird Island, and found the Bramble lying there; 25th, saied from thence, and on the 8th July reached Ampanam Island, off Londock, when the captain, owner, second mate, and whilst on the Barwin it was raining heavily, and in South Australia, a mor furious hurricane was raging, attended by floods and various phenomena. Now during the violent storm of the 15th Ocober, the barometer retained a considerable elevation and indicated but trifling variaions. It is almost certain, that the Adelaide hurricane progressed eastward and northward, and I have every reason to believe, that though the barometrical depression of the 21st September was due o the effects of what was going on in the N.W., at the distance of one or two hundred miles, the depressions on the 30th September and 1st October were due to vember and December were each more than seven degrees colder than the corresponding months of 1843. There may have been various general causes for this depression; but it is more than probable, that one of the chief causes was the ice that has recently been disengaged from the antarctic regions, and floated down and from Europe. Large areas of the atmosphere are constantly in a state of transference from one region to another, and thus the cooled ocean air communi-cates an extensive depression of temperature to the coasts and high lands of the interior, producing sudden derangements of equilibrium, storms, tempests, hail, and

Other facts during 1844 also indicate ome sensible derangement of the usual climate. The absence of hot winds during the warm season, and their occurrence in June and July, are anomalies; whilst now in November, at an elevation above the sea of not more than 3000 feet, is equally strange. In Maneroo more snow had fallen at the end of this winter than had been before known; and on the lower ranges at the head of the Murrumbidgee &c., it fell to the depth of from 6 to 8 feet, many hundred head of cattle having been Believers in cometic influence will of course attribute these occurrences to one or other of the five comets which have ppeared since March, 1843. Not profess ng to believe that heat and cold, drynes and moisture, can all be so irregularly distributed by any one, or at all by any or all of these nebulous bodies, it seems to me more rational to consider these changes of climate in conjunction with the earthquakes and volcanic eruptions that have occurred in Europe, as due to some affection of the earth's organism, from the circumpolar regions is itself to be attributed, producing in its turn temperature of the winter month of June. in the year 1844, the least depressed of the twelve months :-

The temperature of the winter month June, at Parramatta, is shown to be also nearly corresponding with the winter month of December in a climate intermediate between the literal climate of Cadiz and the insular climate of the Azores: and this is shown more nearly by taking the mean of the June tempera-

LAW INTELLIGENCE. SUPREME COURT.-CIVIL SIDE. THURSDAY.

SHERIDAN T. WASON AND OTHERS.

Mr. WINDEYER moved upon notice for judgment as in case of a nonsuit in the above cause, upon the ground that although issue had been joined on the 12th of September last, the cause had not yet been set down for trial so required by the rule of Court. The fact was proved by affidavi; and in addition thereto, an affidavit of Mr. Chanders, the attorney for the defendants, was read, by which it was shown that criminal proceedings had been instituted against John Hawdon, Esq., with reference to the assault, which was the subject of the above action, and that at the time of the trial the planntiff himself said that to the best of his belief the action had been long before abandoned.

the assault, which was the subject of the above action, and that at the time of the trial the planniff himself said that to the best of his bestef the action had been long before abandoned. Mr. Foster appeared to show cause against the motion, and contended that there had been no further delay than could be made up for by giving a peremptory undertaking to go to trial. He also produced an affidavit from the plaintiff. Sheridan, stating that he had been induced to believe the action had been abandoned, from the fact of his attorney having said he would not go on with it, unless a certain sum of money was transmitted to him, which Sheridan was unable to procure. It was in this belief that he had said at the trial of Mr. Hawdon, before the Criminal Court, that he thought the action was abandoned, and not from any real wish to forego it: for if he had been aware that he could still go on with the action, he should at once have expressed his desire to do so

Mr. WINDEVER, in teply, contended that the inability of the plaintiff to transmit money to his attorney, could form no excuse for the deiay; and pointed out that by the 50th and 53th rules of Court, it was imperative, when issue set down for trial during the succeeding term, which had not been done in the present case.

The Court decided that although the delay was such as to justify the present application, the excuse set out by the plaintiff giving a peremptory undertaking to go to trial at the ensuing nisi prins sittings.

EVAN V. NUBEYER.

This was a motion for a new trial, but previous to going into the argument upon the motion itself,

Mr. WINDEVER took a preliminary objection to he notice, upon the ground that the counsel's certificate was irregular, being merely a c

Court.

Mr. Foster contended that the terms "good" and "sufficient" were synonimous, and that the certificate went as far as could be necessary in compliance with the rule of Court.

in compliance with the rule of Court.

After some further argument,
The Cover decided that the notice went far enough. All the Court required was, that there should be sufficient grounds for a motion to be made, and these might exist, although there might not perhaps be sufficient grounds to succeed in such motion. It was plain, therefore, that if counsel should be of opinion there existed good grounds for the motion, this would be all that the Court required, as in that case the terms "good" and "sufficient" must plainly be synonimous.

Mr. Justice A'BECKETT, before whom the case had been tried, then proceeded to read over his notes, from which it appeared that the subject of the action was the alleged conversion by the defendant of ortain cattle belonging to Ryan, during his life-time. The question to be determined at the trial was, whether this conversion had or had not taken place within conversion had or had not taken place within the last six years, so as to place it beyond the operation of the statute of limitation, and the Jury found a verdict for the defendant.

Mr. Foster appeared in support of the motion for new trial, the ground of which was that the verdict was against evidence, and Messrs. Winderer and Michie opposed it, but the Court without calling upon the opposing counsel for an answer dismissed the application, being unable to conclude that the verdict of counsel for an answer dismissed the application, being unable to conclude that the verdict of the Jury was really contrary to the evidence which had been given.

SECRESON C. HEALY.

This action was tried last nois prims sittings, when a verdict was returned for the plaintiff upon one issue, and for the defendant on another issue.

In this case there was a constant of the position of the plaintiff upon one issue, and for the defendant on another issue.

In this case there were cross motions; but upon Mr. Danyall moving for a new trial on the part of the defendant, a preliminary objection was taken by Mr. Windryb to the notice the defendant being so styled in such notice was taken by Mr. WIDEYER to the notice, the defendant being so styled in such notice simply Mary Ann Healy; while in the action itself she had been sued as Mary Ann. Healy, executrix of the last will and testament of her deceased husband. After some argument upon wood or spring.

This was an action for use and occupation, ried at the last nisi prins sittings before Mr. Justice Dickinson, when the plaintiff was non-suited, upon the ground that a written agreement having been proved to have been entered to be the second of the last and the last agreement having been proved to have been entered.

ment having been proved to have been entered into between the parties, such agreement ought to have been produced.

Mr. Foerma, on the part of the plaintiff, now moved for a new trial upon the ground that no sufficient evidence had been given of the existence of a written agreement, and that parole testimony ought in consequence to have been admitted as to the terms of the verbal agree-been given of the existence of a written agree-ment to exclude all parole testimony: for although the witness could not see the agree-ment written, her recollection of the circum-stances were most vivid, and she spoke dis-tinctly to every circumstance attendant on the drawing up and signing of the document. The agreement, therefore, having been shown to exist ought to have been produced, and this not having been done, the plaintiff was very properly nonsuited.

Mr. Forrus having replied.

not having been done, the properly nonsuited.

Mr. Fosrum having replied,
The Court reserved judgment.
Some motions of course having been heard and disposed of, the Court adjourned till ten o'clock this morning.

THE CITY VALUATORS.—We took occasion once before to call upon the citizens and other residents in Sydney to afford every assistance to the officers who are now preparing the valuation lists for the next assessment. The plan on which these lists are being made up will afford some valuable information. It is said, that it is so intricate, that twenty-one days, the time allotted for the valuation, will not be sufficient. We trust, however, that with the co-operation of the citizens, the valuators, by exercising some degree of industry, will be enabled to get through their task in the time proposed.

exercising some degree of industry, will be enabled to get through their task in the time proposed.

The LAYE MR. CHARLES SMITH.—The remains of this useful and enterprising colonist were conveyed yesterday morning to their last resting-place, in the pretty Church-yard of Newtown. A large concourse had assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to the decased; there were upwards of two hundred carriages and gigs, and about twenty horsemen. Besides these there was a large number of pedestrians of the humbler classes, amongst whom were several aborigines, all appearing to feel that they were about to witness the last rites performed over the body of one who had been a kind and benevolent friend to them in their necessities. Amongst the persons present we observed the Attorney-General, Mr. W. C. Wentworth, M.C., Dr. Bland, M. C., the Right Worshipful the Mayor, Aldermen Macdermott, Flood, and Hill, and nearly all the other members of the City Council, together with a large number of the more respectable of the citizens. From the neighbouring districts, embracing a distance of fifty miles, there was a large portion of the settlers and private individuals.

JAPANNED AND ENAMELLED LEATHER—For some time past a Mr. Clifton has been engaged in the erection, at Newtown, of a factory, for the purpose of japanning and enamelling leather, also japanning canvas, cambric, baize, &c., for table covers. The leather is the most important article, and the factory is now in full operation; so that saddlers, harness-makers, and boot-makers, need no longer import the articles of this description which they require. The leather can be supplied at a cheaper rate than the imjorted, in consequence of the price of skins being much lower than in England—notwithstanding that the other maternals requisite are more expensive. There has been one difficulty which is even yet not overcome, and that is, that the tanners have not been careful in taking the grease out of the skins, which prevents their taking the enamel or japan properly, and in other instances damaging the skins by outs, &c. This preparing of leather, as it will do away with the necessity of another import, should be encouraged by coach-builders, saddlers, and boot and capmakers; and in order that the leather may be perfect, tanners should be more careful in preparing the skins; additional care will of course render them more valuable. Mr. Clifton's factory is well worthy of a visit from those interested in the trade.

The Can Robbert — On Monday last, about two o'clock, a small settler residing on Mrs. Chisholm's property on the Liverpool road, left Stewart's public-house, at the bottom of the Brickfield-hill, for the purpose of going to the Commercial Bank to get eash for a Five Pound order, and took with him a man named Sullivan, whom he met in Stewart's; after obtaining the cash, they went into Farrell's public-house, where they had something to drink. Collins being anxious to get back to his lodgings, requested Sullivan to get a cab to take them back to Stewart's; Sullivan went for one, and when they got into it, two strange men took their seats in it along with them, and drove off. On looking out some time after, Collins was very much surprised to see that he was driven out of Sydney, and at the Cockatoo public house, on the some time after, Collins was very much surprised to see that he was driven out of Sydney, and at the Cockatoo public house, on the

the solicitation of the party he stood treat, and paid the cabman three shiflings in addition to what he had paid him at Farrell's to land him at Stewart's. They again started, and drove, not towards the Brickfield-hill, but on the Woolloomocloo Rond, where he was turned out of the cab, and immediately after Sullivan and the two strangers attacked him, knocked him down, and took £4 in notes and what silver he had from him, and ran off. Information was given to the police who apprehended John Hughes, a cabman in the employ of Patrick Irving as the cabman, also Thomas Warrington and John Corton as the two men who had got into the cab at Farrell's, Sulivan being still at large. The case came on for hearing yesterday, when it was shown that

A HINY TO OUR CARMEN.—According to a report of the Prefect of Police of Paris, the hackney-touch drivers of that capital deposited in the hands of the authorities 18,097f. in money, and articles to the value of 22,719f., in all 40,816f., left by mistake in their vehicles duning the year 1843, Uttered Forgue Orders.—On Thursday last, a man named William Gwynne, went to Le Burn's public-house, Parramatta street, and contracted a debt of about 15s. 6d., in payment of which he gave Le Burn a cheque, purporting to be drawn in favour of him (Gwynne) by J. Campbell and Co., for £3 15s. 6d.; Le Burn gave Gwynne the £3 of balance, when he took his departure and has of balance, when he took his departure and has not since been seen; on presenting the cheque for payment on Saturday, it was pronounced to be a forgery. Several other charges of similar nature have also been reported against Gwynne by other publicans. COMMITTAL FOR SHOPLIPTING.—Yesterday, Catherine Kirby, per Diam. nd, for soven years, free one month, was brought before the Mayor, charged with having about two o'clock, on the preceding day, gone into the shop of Mr. Perkins, George-street, on pretence of looking at some bonnets, and while the shopman was busy bettien the allies of the street of th some bonnets, and while the shopman was busy getting some for her inspection, she slipped her hand into a box of sewed lace work, and abstracted two pair of cuffs, value 7s., which she concealed in her parasol. A female, who was working in the room, observed her concealing the property in her parasol. The prisoner was called on to show what she had in her parasol, and refluctantly mut it un, when a prisoner was called on to show what she had in her parasol, and reluctantly put it up, when a lace handkerchief which had been stolen from the shop, on the preceding day, fell out, and on examining her hands, the cuffs were found grasped in one of them along with the handle of the parasol. The prisoner first asserted they had stuck there without her observing them, she next alleged that she had bought them in another shop, and lastly, she told the shop people that she had bought them at Goulhurn. She was committed to take her trial, but allowed ball.

THE EFFECTS OF DRUNKENNESS.—A young man named Todd was brought before the Mayor yesterday, charged with drunkenness, and pleaded in defence that when taken he was pertectly sober, but labouring under delerium tremens, the effects of getting drunk a few days ago, on his being discharged from the Treadmill, where he had been undergoing a sentence for drunkenness. Enquiry was made, and the prisoner's statement being found to be correct, His Worship feelingly admonished him as to his future conduct, and discharged him. Todd has been upwards of twenty times punished for drunkenness by the Sydney Bench.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

BATHURST.

Police Office, January 20.—This being the day fixed for correcting the Jury Lists, there was a full attendance of magistrates. John Lawrence, charged with cattle-stealing, was again brought up, and the evidence of several additional witnesses was taken, and the prisoner remanded. Henry Lewis, holding a ticket-of-leave, a hired servant to — Seymour, Eq., was brought before the Court charged with disorderly conduct. Prisoner was brought summarily before the Bench. At the commencement of the hearing, Mr. Wright, who was engaged for the prisoner, was absent in an inner Court, being engaged prosecuting another case. On his arrival in the outer Court, where the case was being tried, the magistrates present were Wm. Lawson, jun. Esq. Chairman; Edwin Parke, George Rankin, W. A. Steel, J. Sutherland, and — Pickett, Esqrs. The second witness was in the course of his examination, and near its con-BATHURST.

Mr. Parke said, that it was a rule of the Court of Petty Sessions, that no attorney should be heard in a summary case where the defendant was a prisoner of the Crown. Mr. Wright begged permission to read the 2nd section of the Prisoners' Counsel Act (4th Vict., No. 27). Mr. Parke contended that the Act did not apply to prisoners of the Crown, and that he (Mr. Wright) could be refused a hearing from his coming so late into Court Mr. Wright then forbore to press for a hearing of the previous examination, but at the conclusion of Mr. White's (the second witness) examination in chief, Mr. Wright again pressed his claim to the right of cross-examining the witness on behalf of the prisoner—this right was refused. Mr. Wright then begged the bench to acquaint him whether there was any want of respect or courtesy on his part towards the Bench, and whether that was the special ground of exclusion. THE REGATTA.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.
GENTLEMEN,—I observe in your paper of this day a letter signed R. C., reflecting on the conduct of the gentlemen comprising the Committee of Management for the forth-coming Regatta, on which I beg leave to make the following observations. R. C. asserts that the Committee are desirous to keep their names a secret from the public. I can only say that a list can be readily obtained by any person desirous of such information, and that their respectability will be found to be a sufficient guarantee against any misapplication sufficient guarantee against any misappi of the funds.

With respect to the amount of subscriptions actually received, the sum stated by R. C. is an exaggeration.

As regards the ball, the idea, I believe, exists only in the imagination of a "Boat-owner;" and I can state with confidence as regards the intended canterisiment of His Excellency at and I can state with confidence as regards the intended entertainment of His Excellency at the Forr, that the entire cost was to be defrayed by the Committee themselves, and that the refreshments intended to have been supplied to subscribers were to have been of the very plainest and cheapest description.

Respecting the assertion that most of the money raised was abstracted from the pockets of labouring-men, a reference to the subscription list will show that not one in ten of the subscribers will be found either to pull or sail for any prize.

The insult spoken of by R. C. has, I think, in the of inion of impartial people been offered to the Committee themselves, by his unwarrantable attack upon them.

I am, Gentlemen,

Yours, obediently.

ORNERAL REMARKS.

TURSDAY, 1474.—Strong breeses all day, wearing from N.N.E. to N.; atmosphere very thick and hazy—and latter part darkened in N.W., and at sunset a storm passed from thence in a S.E. direction, with slight thunder and lightning; subsequently wind sunk.

WEDDERDAY, 157H.—After daybreak wind moderate from southward; rose to strong breeses, and sky became, heavily overcast, and so remained all day. Afternoon, wind died gradually away to a calm after shifting dually away to a calm after shifting died gradually away to a calm after shifting to S.E.

TRUBBRAY, 16TH.—Forenoon calm and pleasant, and a clear sky after sunrise; towards noon wind set in strong from north-east and north, and came on to blow very boisterously r.M., and a dense fog gathered over. After five o'clock, thunder storms worked up from west and north-west; and at !sunset (during a continued strong north wind) passed over to south-east in part.—but storm kept gathering around; and at eight to nine o'clock lightning was incessant, fashing at every quarter of the compass. Storm ultimately went off between east and south-east by south; in which quarter the lightning continued for a long time. At 10-30 sky had cleared, and squalls came up from southward.

PRIDAY, 17TH.—Strong wind, veering south-south-west to south-south-east, all middle FRIDAY, 17FR.—Strong wind, veering south-south-west to south-south-east, all middle part; P.M. dropped to light airs. Clear at-mosphere all day and night. Comet still visible, but showing a faint light. SATURDAY, 18FR.—Light south-westerly airs, early, and cloudless aky. Fresh north-easterly breezes through the after part of the day, and atmosphere thickened. Night, moderate and bright.

The play on the part of the Currency Club was regarded as very good, especially the fielding and bowling; the Cumberland men seemed to stand in need of practice as to fielding. Considerable dissatisfaction was also expressed at their using a painted ball, which had been soaked in oil to such an extent that it was completely non-clastic

THE BUILDING ACT.—The total number of new buildings and additions commenced within the limits of the Building Act between 1st January and 31st December, 1844, was—new buildings, 176; additions, 65; grand total, 240. Upwards of 250 new buildings and additions have also been commenced in the suburbs during the same period, all of which have either been completed, or are at present progressing.

(Olive's) house, the latter entered close at the prisoner's heels and ordered him to surrender. Several persons having got a hint of what was going on, proceeded to the hut, and found the stranger (Smith) preparing to use his class lating, when they rushed on and secured him. On being taken to Hyde Park Barracks on Monday, he was identified as the man who had forced an entrance into the house of the Rev. Dr. Steele, at Cook's River, on the 14th inst. Since then he has also been identified as a runaway from the gang employed at the Circular Quay.

Circular Quay.

Phaiseworth Conduct — During the bushfire at Point Piper on Sunday evening, the men belonging to Holt's gang were turned out to prevent the flames from getting in contact with the buildings and enclosed premises in that neighbourhood, in which, after considerable exertion, they succeeded; one of the men in the gang being bitten in the calf of the leg by a brown snake, a number of blacks who were promised to to suck the wound, but Circular Quay. present were applied to to suck the wound, but they all refused, on which Rowland, the as-sistant overseer, undertook the job, and per-formed it with such effect that the man Roach, who although still in the hospital, is con-sidered out of danger.

A Monster Husband.—Thomas Lowry, a Scotchman, residing on the Redfern estate, was brought before the Police Court on Tuesday, on a warrant, at the instance of his wife, who informed the Bench that about New Year's Day, the defendant being very much in liquor, obtained a rope about the size of a clothes line, of which he placed a bight round her neck for the purpose of hanging her, and would have effected his purpose but for the timely interference of some of the neighbours; that since then he had repeatedly threatened to hang her and the children, and in one instance had severely wounded one of their daughters with a knife, with which he was about to stab complainant, when the daughter interfered. The cause of the outrageous conduct adverted to, was said, by the complainant, to be drunkenness: while the defendant asserted that it had all been caused by her taking the money out of his place of concealment and spending it without his knowledge. The Bench ordered the defendant to enter into a bond to keep the peace, himself in £40 with two sureties in £20 each.

Committans.—Daniel Baber, lately free, A MONSTER HUSBAND .- Thomas Lowry, a g peace, himself in £40 with two sureties in £20 seeh.

COMMITTALS. — Daniel Baber, lately free, was brought before the Mayor on Tuesday, sharged with sneaking into a house at the Surry Hills, and stealing therefrom a shirt and pair of drill trousers. The prisoner was taken in charge on suspicion, by Mr. J. Brady, who had seen him shortly before without any bundle, and considered that as he was a stranger about the neighbourhood, it was not likely he could have honestly become possessed of one while pretending to be looking after work. The prisoner impudently asserted that the articles found on him were his own property, after the owner had distinctly sworn to them as being the same clothes he had worn on the preceding day.—Ellen Martin, an old offender, walking, for which offence she was ordered to be considered in Sydney gaol for two calendar months.—George Brown, Charles Thorn, and Martha Thorn alias Rust, being severally convicted of indecency, were each ordered to pay a fine of £5, with 2s. 6d. costs, and in default of payment to be confined in Sydney Gaol for two calendar months.

NEWS FROM THE INTERIOR.

PARRAMATTA.

AN OLD OFFENDER.—Owen Moriarty, a character well known both to the Parramatta and Sydney Police, and who was tried and acquitted of robbery at the last Central Criminal Court, of robbery at the last Central Crininal Court, was, on Sunday last, again apprehended under the following circumstances:—Sergeant Riley and a constable were on duty near the Catholic Burying Ground, when they observed a man coming from one of the houses opposite, with a large bundle, with which he ran across the road and threw it over the fence. Riley immediately went into the burying ground, ordering the constable to proceed along the fence to intercept the escape of the man. Just at the spot where the bundle was thrown over, Moriarty was discovered carrying off his plunder, and was immediately arrested. On enquiry being made, the goods were found to be the property of Patrick Lahy, a tailor, into whose house the prisoner had effected an entrance by wrenching open the front window. The bundle contained five jackets, three pairs of duck trousers, two pairs of black trousers, arm, who fell from a dray on which he had of streets, for which offences they were as the streets, for which offences they were as the streets of twick on the streets of t

WOOL WASHING AT THE TANK'S STREAM.— Wool Washing at the Tank's Stream.—An omission has occurred in the advertisement of Mr. Chapman's property, by Nr. Stubbs, quite unintentional. It respects the excellence of the water at the end of Little licerge-street, for "wool-washing," where some score, or more, bales may be seen undergoing that process every day. Those who use it say, that the water possesses all those prouise atkingenous combined properties which, whilst it cleanese easily all sorts of impurity, leaves undisturbed the yolky softness, which alone make a flece marketable. If this be so, as the use seems to justify, and immediately at the rear of Mr. Chapman's wool-shot and the public to compute the value between them, at the day of sale. 906

The Auctioneer in describing the shore well-known Estate, needs not the common subterfuge of puffing, it being a property that is not every day brought before the public notice, its situation being of paramount importance, namely,—an extensive frontage to the South Creek, bounded on the south the John Teale's Estate; on the north by the Movam and Balmain Estates; and os the cast by the main Windsor Road, leading to paramatts and Sydney. Also, a right of run to the Nelson Common.

The only reason for the proprietor leaves it is, that he wishes personally to superiste his grazing establishment in the interior. This Estate is enclosed by a good substant fence, and subdivided into twelve padded seven of which are under the highest state

There is a comfortable dwelling-house g arden, stocked with choice fruit trees, a commodious barn, stable, cart shed, harness not at d granary over the two tart, a shingled she cat able of containing about 6: tone of his store-toom, and other convenient offices. T. trms—20 per cent. cash; the residual appr sved endorsed bills at three and mont hs.

For a view of the Estate, and for further partic ulars, application to be made to the Aucti oneer, Windsor, or to the Proprision, on the premises, if by letter post-paid.

Fiftee in barrow Pigs, and the whole of the FARMING IMPLEMENTS, consisting of ploughs, harrows, dray, ast, &c., & c., will be sold.
